Final Exam Announcement

When: Tuesday, December 18, 2007, 1:30 P.M. – 4:30 P.M.

Where: Johnson Track

Crib sheet: The final examination is closed book. You may however bring two, two-sided, hand-written, 8 1/2" × 11" or A4 sheets of paper for use as crib sheets. Preparing these crib sheets can be a useful study aid, so take time in selecting material for them. You may write as small as you like, but no mechanical or electronic reproductions are allowed. In particular, no “tablet-written” sheets. Calculators are also not allowed for this exam.

Material covered: The form of the final exam is similar to that of Quiz 1. The problems will emphasize knowledge of the material more than creativity. You are responsible for all the material covered in lectures, recitations, problem sets, and reading assignments throughout the course.

Exam conflict: If you received notice from the registrar indicating you are eligible for a conflict exam, you will also receive an email from the course staff with time and location. Please acknowledge receipt of the email.

Exam review: There will be a review for the finals. Sunday December 16, from 4:00pm to 7:00pm in 4-270.

Grades: You can obtain your final grades and exam by contacting Joanne Hanley (in person) in 32-G672A on (or after) December 21.
